

THE LEADERS OF MARINES

Before becoming an officer, candidates must first prove they have what it takes to become a Marine. Leaders in the Marine Corps have a desire to succeed and the determination to overcome any and every obstacle. Candidates learn to act quickly and decisively, even in the midst of chaos. They train until no physical or mental challenge can stop them from completing their mission.

The confidence of a Marine Corps Officer comes from knowing he or she is part of an elite group composed of the most highly skilled and trained leaders in the world. An officer exemplifies our core values—honor, courage, and commitment. Whether a Marine serves for 4 years or 40, he or she will develop leadership skills invaluable in any endeavor. It is no wonder many famous public figures, prominent business people, and community leaders directly attribute their success to their service in the Marine Corps.

The Marine Corps provides transportation, lodging and meals associated with the workshop. Spaces are limited, so locate and contact your local Officer Selection Office by calling 1-800-MARINES for more information.

SAMPLE SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

DAY 1
Travel to Quantico, VA
Welcome Aboard Dinner

DAY 2
The Basic School (TBS)-Combat Leadership Skills
Lunch with TBS Lieutenants
Patrols/Field-Based Tactical Decision Game
View a Sunset Parade in Washington, D.C.

DAY 3
Marine Corps University
MMX-1 Tour and Orientation Flight
Dinner with TBS Lieutenants

DAY 4
Tour Officer Candidates School (OCS)/observe Training
Leadership Reaction Course
Q&A Panel with OCS Candidates
Tour National Museum of the Marine Corps
Company Grade Panel and Farewell Dinner

DAY 5
Travel Home

Workshop expenses are paid by the United States Marine Corps. Educators may receive continuing education credits.

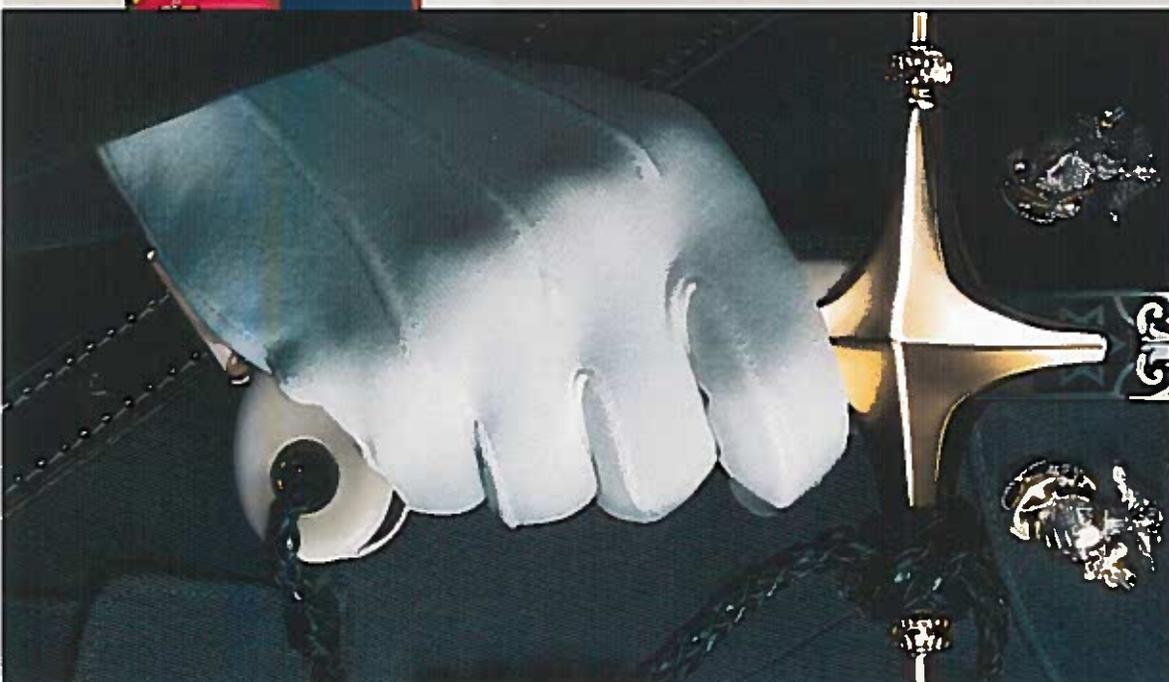

MARINEOFFICER.COM

MARINES
THE FEW. THE PROUD.

EDUCATORS' AND KEY LEADERS' WORKSHOP

UNDERSTANDING THE OPPORTUNITIES AND BENEFITS OF BECOMING A MARINE OFFICER

Greetings.

The United States Marine Corps would like to extend a personal invitation for you to attend the Educators' and Key Leaders' Workshop at Quantico, Virginia.

For hundreds of years, the Marine Corps has fought honorably to defend this nation and our way of life. It is our Marine Corps Officers who have led the way. The Marine Corps is an organization built around success and the opportunity for growth and advancement. We are fiercely proud of our traditions and the way in which we create our nation's leaders.

We look forward to sharing our training process with you.

Please let us know if we can answer any questions you may have regarding the workshop.

Semper Fidelis,

The United States Marine Corps

HONOR

The Marine Corps understands and appreciates the important role you play instructing and leading young men and women. Providing accurate information is critical, and the ability to speak from experience is even better.

FEW KNOW FIRSTHAND WHAT IT'S LIKE TO SERVE OUR NATION IN THE MARINE CORPS. EVEN FEWER ARE GIVEN AN OPPORTUNITY LIKE THE ONE YOU ARE HOLDING IN YOUR HANDS.

We invite you to personally experience the unparalleled journey Marines undertake in the pursuit of their commission as Marine Corps Officers. This workshop highlights the education and training men and women undergo to become Marine Officers, with a special focus on leading Marines.

The Educators' and Key Leaders' Workshop provides remarkable insight into the transformation process and leadership development the Marine Corps has built to follow through on our three commitments: making Marines, winning battles, and developing quality citizens.

COURAGE

COMMITMENT

OUR THREE COMMITMENTS

MAKE MARINES

WIN OUR NATION'S BATTLES
DEVELOP QUALITY CITIZENS

During this workshop, you will see how Marine Officers are made and experience our commitment to lifelong education. You will talk to men and women in training and hear their individual stories. You will see how their determination, decisiveness, endurance, and selflessness have given them an undeniable edge as both defenders and citizens of our great nation. Additionally, you will participate in some of the same leadership tests that challenge our future Marine Corps Officers.

After attending this workshop, you will be able to give young adults an invaluable tool for their future—knowledge. You will leave knowing that the commitment Marines make to the Corps is not only remarkable, but unquestionably reciprocated.